Kontraplak Plywood

Both surfaces of birch plywood are covered with a straw braided film.

The wear surface has a coarse mesh pattern; the other surface is normally flat. Mesh covering resists hard wear and can be used for many different flooring purposes. Surface film application in different colors is available.

The mesh surface has high wear resistance and anti-slip property, its surfaces are resistant to external weather conditions and water, resistant to commonly used chemicals. In addition, the product is environmentally and nature friendly.

There are many different areas such as vehicle floors, trailer / body floors, pedestrian bridges, warehouse and factory floors, warehouse shelves, loading platforms, ship decks, pier surfaces. It is generally used in areas where high wear resistance and/or good anti-slip properties are required.
